THREE BOMB EXPLOSIONS

JAFFA, Monday.—Curfew was imposed in the Municipal Area at 1.30 this afternoon following the explosion of three bombs—in two Police Stations—and one near the Tel Aviv border. There were no casualties.

An unknown Arab threw a bomb at Jews working at the end of Rehov Hacarmel at 12.30 this afternoon. No one was hurt.

Twenty minutes later a Mills bomb exploded harmlessly in the courtyard of the Manshih Police Station, and a third bomb exploded at 1.15 in the back yard of the Central Police Barracks. It is believed that the assailants were Arabs. Troops patrolled the streets in lorries and arrested curfew breakers.

CURFEW CONTINUES IN TIBERIAS

LP.200 FINE STILL UNPAID

The daily 23-hour curfew imposed on the Jewish quarter of Tiberias last Monday, pending the payment of a LP.200 fine imposed by the Military authorities, was still in force yesterday.

The Ahva quarter extends to Galilee Street, the main thoroughfare in which most of the traffic is concentrated. The Jewish Merchants Association of Tiberias on Sunday sent telegrams to the High Commissioner and to the General Officer Commanding, appealing for the lifting of the curfew which was paralysing the economic life of the town.

The Mayor of Tiberias, Mr. S. Dihan, accompanied by the District Officer, Mr. A. D. Lebbah, last week saw the Military Commander in this connection.

At a meeting of Tiberias women on Saturday, sponsored by the W.I.Z.O., it was decided to start a fund to help the residents of the Ahva quarter with food and other necessities.

MR. BINGHAM'S ATTENDANT

We are informed that the Arab orderly who attended Mr. Hugh Bingham, as reported in yesterday's issue of The Palestine Post, was the hospital tamur-ul, and not his companion on visits in Palestine.

Serious Charges Against Arab Refugees in Syria

EXPLOSIVES FACTORY DISCOVERED (From a Correspondent)

DAMASCUS, June 18.—Contrary to their previous lenient attitude to the Palestine Arab refugees, the French authorities have recently taken stringent measures to restrict the movements of these residents.

Searches of houses, hotels and boarding establishments patronised by the refugees have been carried out by the Gendarmerie, and many of their regular clients have changed their residence or stopped frequenting cafes and other public places to escape surveillance.

It is now emerging that many Arab fugitives entered Syria without passports, and it is believed that they will be tried and bound over under police supervision.

Izzat Darwaza, the Mufti of Jerusalem's kinsman, has been detained in the Al Mazza military prison, but his brother Muhammad Ami has been released. No public announcement has yet been made by the authorities concerning the charges against Izzat, but it is believed that it is of a serious character.

In addition to his reported connection with a foreign Power (believed to be Germany), there is another charge of smuggling bombs and explosives into Palestine. A complete explosive factory was found in Damascus, where a chemist and a number of skilled workmen were engaged in their manufacture, and one of the workmen is believed to have implicated Izzat Darwaza.

DEATH SENTENCE FOR BEDUIN

KILLED ANOTHER BEDUIN

Found Guilty of two capital charges under the Defence Regulations, Suleiman Abou Mansur, a Bedouin of the Beersheba district, was sentenced to death on Friday by the Jerusalem Military Court. Judgment was delivered three weeks after the trial.

Witnesses for the Prosecution stated that the accused had shot dead another Beduin with his rifle. The accused denied the charges.

Other sentences confirmed by the G.O.C. were as follows:

Sentence of death commuted to life imprisonment in the case of Mohammed Ibrahim Najamy, of Haifa, sentenced by the Haifa Military Court, for carrying a pistol and pistol ammunition.

Seven years' imprisonment passed by the Jerusalem Military Court on Said Ibn Ali el Hejazi of Ras el Ain for carrying a firearm and ammunition—reduced to four years;

Five years on Mohamed Shaba' Ashur, of Gaza, for carrying a firearm and ammunition in Jaffa.

Considerable orders have also been received for chocolate, biscuits, tinned goods and other foods from U.S.A. The representative of the Institute in New Zealand is now negotiating for import from Palestine in exchange for increased export from New Zealand.

the day by police and troops which included detachments of the Sherwood Foresters from Haifa, reinforced by detachments of the Hampshire from Acre.

When the curfew was lifted at 4 p.m., life in the Jewish residential quarters quickly returned to normal. Shops in Haifa Town and Arab shops did not reopen, however.

The Palestine Post could not be delivered to subscribers in Haifa today and the paper was available only after curfew was lifted when it was sold at kiosks throughout Haifa.

JEWISH DELEGATION

Bar Rav Hai, Aba Hushi and David Hacohen, visited the Military Commander, Brigadier Godwin Austen, at his invitation at 5.30 this afternoon and expressed the distress of the Jewish community at the bomb outrage which had occurred in the vegetable market, an act of terrorism which was completely at variance with the policy pursued by responsible Jewish bodies. It was pointed out by them, however, that the policy of the British Government, as expressed in the White Paper, was such as to encourage belief that its decision could be influenced by acts of terrorism.

HOW NAZIS WIPE OUT MINORITIES

GERMAN CENSUS AND THE POLES

(From a Special Correspondent)

THE last census of population in Germany on May 17, (the results of which were published in Berlin on June 17) is of great interest owing to its political tendency directed against the minorities living in the Third Reich generally, and in the first place against the Polish minority which is the largest in Germany.

These tendencies result from the well-known German policy of extermination of racial minorities, and from the ideological foundations of National Socialism. Nazi Germany, whose chief aim is the realisation of a united and compact nation, endeavours to assimilate or destroy all her minorities in the shortest possible time. One of the methods which has proved to be very useful in this respect is to juggle with population statistics, on the basis of a census carried out by a specially trained and instructed administration.

Without going into the methods of previous censuses in Germany, it can be said that obliteration of the real picture with regard to minorities was achieved by disregarding the unity of the Polish language. There were introduced artificial classifications such as "Kashubian," "Mazurian" and "Wasserpolsch," which are scientifically proved to be dialects of the Polish language, introduction of the idea of bilingual populations, questionnaires specially prepared for statistical purposes by inserting suggestive definitions, as well as tendentious working of the technical part of the census.

There can be no doubt that a census conducted in such a way gave no true picture of the strength of the Polish element in Germany.

To illustrate this fact it will be sufficient to state that the number of Poles in Germany during the 15 years from 1910-1925, "fell" by 47.4 per cent, and during the following eight years by a further 44 per cent. Between the census of 1910 and the one of 1933, the Polish population was shown to have declined by 1,085,388 persons, i.e. 71.2 per cent.

Inexplicable Phenomenon

This artificial census of population, created difficulties for the Germans themselves, as they were unable to explain this remarkable phenomenon. It is clear that such artificially managed "decrease" of the Polish population in Germany, corresponded to no true picture and were intended to mislead world public opinion regarding the true number of Poles living in Germany.

In order to arrive at a correct picture for the present one must start with the total fixed by the census of 1910. According to this census, the number of Poles living in German territory which remained German under the Treaty of Versailles was 1,500,000.

Taking into account the natural increase of the Polish population during 1910-1914 and 1918-1939, 15 per cent a year, and during the war years of 1914-1918, (10 per cent), less the total war casualties, and finally, the decrease caused by the emigration from the Reich in the post-war years of about a quarter of a million Poles, it will be found that there must be actually in Germany, 1,800,000 Poles.

This fact cannot be changed by the new and artificial operations of the last census of population in the Third Reich, which took place on May 17.

This census makes a clean sweep of the former principles of German statistics and is made to serve the policy of the Nazi regime towards the national minorities.

The chief novel devices are these:

1. Citizens are required to state their nationality.
2. Sub-classifications of Polish language.
3. The "bilingual population" clause.
4. Lack of secrecy.
5. Heavy punishments for "incorrect" statements.
6. Employment of ambiguous phrases and leading questions.

Act of Heroism

Considering the well-known German policy of extermination towards the minorities, which always has been employed against the Poles, it is unnecessary to stress the influence on the results of the census of the insertion of a clause requiring every citizen to state whether he considers himself a member of a national minority. It is sufficient to emphasize that in Germany's present internal situation this register represents a deliberate restriction of the rights of civilised people to the free confession of nationality. Such a confession must be considered now an act of heroism.

Under these circumstances the attitude of the Supreme Council of the Association of Poles Living in Germany, as expressed in its resolution of March 6, 1938, is easily understood. It stresses the danger to the Polish population in Germany caused by the Nationalities Register and urged the leaders of the Association to work by all available means against this peril. The Polish Press acted accordingly, pointing out the true significance of the census.

It is characteristic of German statistical methods that the nationality clause runs counter to German doctrine and theory, especially in respect of German demands regarding German minorities living in foreign countries, such as Poland and Czechoslovakia. It is likewise contrary to the National-Socialistic doctrine of race and nation. The rightness of these principles, which are innovations, we must leave to the Nazis, but if Germans propagate them it would be more consistent on their part to observe them. As is well known, the principles of this doctrine in respect of the nation are God's will, language, blood, spirit and birth. The loss of these features or their deformation through ignorance or restraint, is considered immoral and contradictory to natural law. This point of view was confirmed by Hitler in his speech in Graz on April 3, 1938, when he declared: "God has created the nations — what God has united men never should divide."

Two Standards

THE subjective criterion of determining one's own nationality by personal declaration has been discarded in theory and practice by the majority of countries. German science shows also a negative attitude towards such a conception, expressing the opinion (Franz Hies: "Methodik der Volkszählung," Jena 1931, page 156) that personal declaration in respect of nationality show the same errors as statistics based in general on declarations, and that such declarations may lead to the perversion of nationality statistics through extraneous factors such as economic, administrative or police pressure, etc.

It is not necessary to emphasize the important role which such pressure was bound to play in the census of May 17, especially with regard to the Polish minority which, taking into consideration its social structure, is exposed to the strongest economic pressure, not to speak of such factors as political terror.

It is worth while to recall the characteristic attitude of Germany towards the census of population in Czechoslovakia in 1921 and 1930, when the edge of the subjective methods now applied by Germany was turned against her in the Sudetenland.

At that time it was complained by Germans (Hans Singule: "Der Staat Masaryks-Berlin 1937, page 177), that:—

1. "In electoral districts where Germans form a compact population, the number of Germans who voted for Germans, but did not dare to admit frankly to be Germans at the time of the census, was uniformly below 10 per cent."
2. "In electoral districts where Germans were dispersed and formed language-islands (Sprachinseln) or lived among the Czech majority, this number amounted even to...60 per cent."

The criticism of the statistical German methods in the last census does not of course exhaust the arguments against them. What has been said here is merely sufficient to show that these methods have nothing in common with statistical aims, that they are dictated by political reasons and that they are inconsistent:

1. With National-Socialist doctrines, regarding race and nation,
2. With official declarations by the leading personalities of the III. Reich.
3. With the traditions of German science, and
4. With the German attitude towards censuses involving German minorities living in other countries.

The Polish view, which was communicated to the German Government is quite clear, and it can be taken for granted that Poland will never recognise such a census of population as being in accordance with the real facts.

It is not without interest to note the recent German accusations about the alleged persecution of Germans living in Poland. The Germans who are protesting so loudly against deliberately exaggerated or invented incidents are employing methods towards their minorities which cannot leave Poland unaffected.

It is true that recently there have occurred a few cases of transfer to the interior districts of Poland of Germans living in the Polish frontier zone, which are explained by dangers to the security of the state, flowing from the tension between Poland and Germany. But in comparison with the peculiar German procedure in the last census of population, which is directed in the main against the entire Polish minority, these cases are hardly worth mentioning.

Hitler Proposes -- Gestapo Disposes

(From a Correspondent)

PRAGUE, June 13.— Beneath the surface in Bohemia and Moravia a bitter if silent struggle is beginning between the Czech people, now recovered from the feeling of bewilderment and frustration which came as a stunning shock three months ago, and the foreign invader.

This important change in the "Protectorate" has been brought about by Herr Hitler's most recent breach of his promise that the fullest "cultural autonomy" would be granted to his Czech subjects. This was the principal "concession" implicit in the "Protectorate" when it was set up after the March invasion.

What Herr Hitler proposed the Gestapo is now disposing. "Der Neue Tag", official German Nazi organ in the Protectorate, has already stated bluntly that the Czech language must disappear from public life and be replaced by German. All Czech officials have been ordered to learn German, and all official business will shortly be transacted entirely in that language.

Island In German Sea

But the Germanisation of the "Protectorate" is only the first step in the campaign of subjection. The Regional Propaganda Leader, Herr Hoeller, recently told a meeting, at which leading German personalities in the administration were present, that the Czechs would have to become accustomed to the thought of being an island in the German sea and that Prague must become a centre in Germany's penetration of South-Eastern Europe.

In this spirit the Germans are now busily removing the most valuable objects from old Bohemian castles and museums and transferring them to Germany.

It is impossible to verify all rumours, but it seems to be a fact that Italian troops have arrived in two Moravian towns, Kromeriz and Prešov. German political circles in Prague are reported to regard this as a sign that Italian resistance to the idea of a war against Poland has broken down. As there are strong German military detachments in Italy, there seems to be no reason why the Italian Government should not send a couple or more of her own divisions to Bohemia and Moravia.

Palcor reports that the Slovak authorities have imposed a fine of 50,000 crowns on the Jewish community at Zilina as a punishment for the action of several merchants in removing the "Shield of David" sign from their shop-windows to indicate their Jewish origin. No bid by or on behalf of the Mortgagee above-named will be accepted, nor will any sale to him be valid without the express permission of the Chief Execution Officer or his delegates previously given.

All bids must be lodged at the Execution Office of this Court. Bids made outside the Execution Office shall have no legal validity.

AMERICANS' ADVICE TO PALESTINE JEWS

JOHN GUNTHER AND O.G. VILLARD

The Middle East and Palestine, with a full length pen-portrait of Dr. Weizman at the end, make up the last chapters of "Inside Asia" by John Gunther, first copies of which were received in Jerusalem yesterday from New York (Harper, $3.50).

"Inside Asia" is of course the "sequel" to "Inside Europe," which the author has kept completely up-to-date by constantly revising the material in that amazing best-seller, as the events in Europe changed.

The section concerning this part of the world begins with the "Arab World," runs through "The Kings of the Middle East" and leads up to "Land of Israel." The text for the chapter is a verse from W. H. Auden's poem on refugees which The Palestine Post has reprinted from the "New Yorker," with the heart-breaking refrain "We cannot go there now my dear, we cannot go there now."

"Fantastic" Mr. Gunther concludes a sober chapter on the "Land of Israel" with a not unhelpful closing paragraph, though the author himself admits that "the idea may seem fantastic."

"Perhaps amelioration will come some day — amelioration to the refugee problem also — in the form of an exchange of populations. This is not practical politics yet; it could become practical politics any time the British believed in it. The Arabs might conceiv-

Passive Resistance

Another American voice is that of Oswald Garrison Villard, for many years Editor of the "Nation" of New York. In his weekly feature article in the "Nation" for June 3, entitled "Palestine Needs a Gandhi," Mr. Villard expresses the strong hope that—

"Jews will turn to passive resistance to attain their ends. Therein lies their one hope. If they resort to force they are bound to lose. The British army can shoot them down if they match arms. But if they turn to the greatest weapon of all, non-resistance, they may find that they will produce results so far-reaching as to astound them and all who sympathize with them — Let the Jews look at India. What more wonderful happening has there been in the year 1939 than Gandhi's humbling of the British government merely by his refusal to take food? ... It must be recalled that his latest fast was not aimed at the British government directly but at Thakore Sahib, ruler of the minor state of Rajkot. He promised to 'fast unto death' unless that ruler granted democratic reforms within his government."

BOXING

FARR NOT TO FIGHT DOYLE

IMPORTANT NEW BOXING RULE

Tommy Farr cannot be regretting having returned to England. Although he has appeared only twice in the ring, against Red Burman and Larry Gains, he has almost been overwhelmed for offers for his services.

Wembley made a bold effort to get Tommy to fight Jack Doyle, but Tommy couldn't see why Doyle expected as much as he, so the bout has fallen through. He has now been signed up to fight Jim Braddock, ex-world champion, sometime in July, and backers of Tommy Martin, the young coloured Deptford heavy-weight, have offered Farr £2,000 to meet him in the ring.

Tommy Farr will probably disregard this offer as he has disregarded others from budding heavy-weights. He is out for the top flights; that means Braddock, Harvey, and then, ultimately, he hopes, Joe Louis, with a different result than last time.

If Farr cleans up over in Britain he will most probably be off to the States again, for he went home more than anything to recover a lot of the prestige he had lost in American rings.

New Boxing Rule?
The British Boxing Board of Control are busily seeking to amend one of the rules of boxing. If they succeed, a boxer who is knocked out of the ring will have a better chance of continuing the fight.

Under the present rule a boxer must regain his feet and be in the ring before "ten" is counted, otherwise he loses the fight. The B.B.B. of C., however, are proposing that a fighter need only regain his feet outside the ring before the last count.

If this motion is carried it will benefit boxers and boxing. Last year Jack Doyle and Ben Foord suffered an official knockout because they could not regain the ring. Both were important fights. Foord was fighting George James, a fight which Foord took as his most important. If he lost he retired, if he won he went on boxing.

Jack Doyle was making a reappearance in the British ring against Eddie Phillips, and after two furious rounds Phillips side-stepped a Doyle charge and sixteen stone of Irish manhood crashed into the laps of ringside spectators.

Jack Dempsey might well have lost his heavy-weight title against Luis Firpo in 1923, under this rule. After some minutes of whirlwind

The first words that a newcomer to Palestine learns are "Shalom" and "Maspero". "Shalom" is the Hebrew salutation and means Peace. "Maspero" is the name of the most well-known cigarette in the country.

One of the first things a newcomer has to decide is the choice of the Maspero cigarette which suits his taste and purse. He may choose LATIF, NARCISSUS, MATOSSIAN, JASMIN or YASMIN and all these are obtainable in packets of 10 to 27 cigarettes, either in a cork or in a tin.

U.S.A. Preferred

Henry Armstrong has now returned to the United States disappointed by the reception given him by the British public. For the fight in which he defeated Ernie Roderick, the stadium was only half-full.

Armstrong was to have met Eric Boon in London for the world's lightweight title, for Mr. Sydney Hulls of Harringay Stadium. The financial failure of Armstrong's first British fight, however, has made Hulls less keen about his British contract, and would prefer to send Boon over to America, where he was received with enthusiasm during his recent holiday there. He has got into touch with Mike Jacobs, who will arrange a couple of warming-up bouts for Boon before he has his attempt at Armstrong.

Many are saying that the reason for the lack of custom at the Armstrong-Roderick fight was that the B.B.C. televised the fight, and allowed it to be shown in several London cinemas. However, probably the real reason was that Britons are still impatient of any fight between less than heavy-weights. They prefer their boxing on a large scale. A fight between Boon and Armstrong, however, would certainly be an attraction — and Boon would be the bait. Boon has entered British hearts, as was shown during the recent "natural" between Boon and Danahar.

However, America will still be more financially attractive for Boon.

ENGLAND TEAM FOR LORD'S

FOUR FROM YORKSHIRE

The England team for the first Test match against the West Indies which commences at Lord's on Saturday is as follows:—

Hammond (Gloucester) captain, Hutton, Verity, Bowes and Wood (Yorkshire), Compton (Middlesex), Paynter (Lancashire), Hardstaff (Notts), Wright (Kent), Copson (Derby), Wright (Somerset).

Kent are in sight of victory at Neath against Glamorgan as with nine wickets still in hand they require but 29 runs.

Gloucester, led on the first innings by Sussex, are making a great fight of it. Dismissing Sussex in their second innings for 124 runs, they scored 130 for 5, but still need 29 for victory.

There were several good bowling performances. Wright of Kent took 5 for 51 against Glamorgan; Martindale, 5 for 57 for the tourists against Leicestershire and Wellard, 7 for 57 against Oxford University.

Latest Scores

POLICE AND R.A.S.C. DRAW

Another keen tussle was witnessed at the Oil-Dock, Haifa, last week, when the Royal Army Service Corps (Northern) and the Haifa Police played a two-all draw.

The Police got off the mark well from the first whistle on a nice passing movement originating from Fish, centre-forward, to Bathgate and then on to Fairfoul, the latter putting the shot home. Following a scrappy period in which both goalies were called upon, the Corps scored the equaliser on Thompson's break-away from a scrimmage in the centre, and before the change-over, Clarke put the Corps in the lead on a beautiful long range drive from the left wing, which took the Police goalie by surprise.

Police Square Scores

In a very even second half, the Service guards, Wilson and Martin, showed up to great advantage, doing a goodly amount of clearing. Both centre-halves were prominent in starting some smart moves and some nimble passing and goal testing ensued.

What looked like being an Army victory was neutralised in the closing stages by another smart piece of combination started on the Police right-wing. Brien passed to Fish; the latter to Bathgate, who swam forward unmarked for a healthy gain, and eventually to Fairfoul who scored his second goal and levelled the score.

The Corps tried to regain the lead in the last minutes, but despite Baker's dangerous spurts from the right wing, met with no success.

The Teams

Haifa Police:—Goodier; Wood, Bathgate; Fish; Davis, Fairfoul and Brien.

R.A.S.C. (Northern):—Austin; Wilson, Martin; Chappel; Baker, Thompson, and Clarke.

SIGNALS HOLD AIRMEN TO DRAW

BAD LIGHT INTERVENES

Playing at the Jerusalem Sports Club last Friday, the Royal Air Force H.Q. P. & T. drew their game with Palforce Signals. When bad light prevented further play the Signals required 58 runs to avoid defeat, with only three wickets in hand.

The Airmen batted first and scored steadily for a total of 153, L.A.C. Sydenham being top scorer with 35 not out, while W/O Evans also reached the thirties. Talbot and Hawley bowled well, but the Signals' fielding was weak in the early stages when several catches were dropped.

The Signals opened their innings confidently, Talbot, Thorpe and Stockdale each getting over twenty apiece, but the rest of their batsmen showed very little resistance to the good bowling of Hayes and Coverdale.

BRITISH SUBJECTS HELD UP AT BARRIERS IN TIENTSIN

PREMIER'S STATEMENT ON FAR EAST SITUATION

LONDON, Monday (R).—Questions from various parts of the House of Commons this afternoon elicited a statement from Mr. Neville Chamberlain on the position in the Far East, when he stated that the barrier restrictions in Tientsin were being continued.

The Prime Minister declared that all British subjects were being held up at the barriers by the Japanese, rigorously searched and in some cases subjected to indignities. The entry of perishable food-stuffs and ice into the Concession was delayed by the rigid searching and its entry continued to be spasmodic. Normal supplies were reported to be reaching the market adjoining the French Concession. No special arrangements appeared to be called for as yet, but further information on the subject was being sought from the authorities on the spot.

Mr. Chamberlain mentioned that on the morning of June 18 two British coastal steamers went up the river to Tientsin without stoppage or search, but generally speaking, he said, British lighters and tugs had been stopped and searched.

Protests had been addressed by the Consul-General in Tientsin, and the Ambassador in Tokyo had been instructed to take matters up with the Japanese Government.

The general position was not clear, but it appeared that the original demand for the handing over of four Chinese had been confused by the introduction of larger issues of general policy. No formal representation had been received from the Japanese Government, and there was still hope that a local settlement would be found possible, Mr. Chamberlain added.

LIMITATION WANTED
"His Majesty's Government cannot but believe that the Japanese Government share their own desire not to widen the area of disagreement or render more acute an already difficult situation. At the same time they are fully alive to the reactions of the present dispute on the position of other British and international settlements in China."

"Lord Halifax is seeing the Japanese Ambassador today and Sir Robert Craigie in Tokyo is endeavouring to clarify the situation there. We are maintaining the closest touch with the French and American Governments."

Repeating to Mr. Arthur Henderson, Mr. Chamberlain said that the British

R.A.F. PLANES OPSERVE TRAFFIC BEHAVIOUR

BIGGEST BRITISH A.R.P. TEST

LONDON, Monday (R). — All traffic was halted at noon today in the Borough of Chelsea for 15 minutes when the biggest Air Raids precautions test yet devised in England was carried out with the primary object of testing the effect of air raid warnings on vehicular and pedestrian traffic.

The Home Secretary, the Lord Privy Seal, the Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police, and 300 other official visitors were present.

Sirens brought all outdoor activity to a standstill for 15 minutes when vehicles drew into the kerb and the occupants hastened to the nearest shelter. Five thousand children from 21 schools practised evacuation, and marched through the streets with full going-away kit to the electric railway stations.

WAR-TIME SCHEDULE

The children's evacuation was carried out to a strict time-table, the younger children being conveyed to the entraining centres by London Transport Board buses under the guidance of volunteers, according to a war-time schedule.

The efficiency of the measures was observed from the air by Royal Air Force machines.

NEW "DUPEK" PICTURES

The extraordinary success with which the "Guard and Sports" pictures have met, gave the "Dubek" Cigarette Factory the impulse to enlarge this collection with a new series of interesting and most topical pictures.

The new pictures depict the Jewish pioneering achievements on the sea, air and land. They show the life and raining of Jewish air pilots, sailors and captains, and give a complete and impressive view of the new settlements in Palestine. Almost all these pictures are not yet known to the public. They are taken specially for the "Dubek" Company by the best photographers in the country, and were marvellously reproduced in prints.

The total number of the "Guard and Sports" collection consists now of 288 pictures. The new "Guard and Sports" film which will appear soon will also include the new series of pictures.

King and Queen on Wet but Cheerful Cruiser Tour

ADVENTURE BEFORE LEAVING ON EMPRESS OF BRITAIN

LONDON, Monday (R. & BOWP). — Steaming at 24 knots, the s.s. Empress of Britain carrying the King and Queen back to England was clear of the iceberg zone within 20 hours of leaving Newfoundland, and has now slowed down to less than 20 knots, which is a more economical and comfortable speed both for the liner and the escorting destroyers.

The ship is rolling on a fresh wind which, however, is not sufficient to cause discomfort. To enable those on board to have a longer night's rest, the ship's clocks will be advanced during the afternoons instead of at night, the usual practice in eastward crossings.

Prayers were offered at Divine service yesterday for peace and for Able Seaman Batt, who fell overboard the previous day.

When the liner emerged from the iceberg zone, Their Majesties were resting after their greatest personal adventure since the tour began. They had gone aboard a ferry-boat towards the cruiser Glasgow, which they intended touring and which had gone ahead. As the Glasgow approached, the King and Queen were transferred aboard a small naval motor-boat to go alongside. After bumping and ploughing through the waves, the engines suddenly stopped.

It was found that the propeller was caught in fishing nets. For several minutes the boat drifted helplessly until another naval boat came alongside. The King jumped on board and helped the Queen over.

Waves crashing over the boat soaked all the members of the party who were unable to cram into the tiny cabin. In spite of the bad weather, the King and Queen, determined not to disappoint the officers and crews of the cruisers, went through the whole programme. Afterwards they visited the Berwick and returned wet but cheerful to the Empress of Britain.

NATIONAL REJOICING
Great scenes of national rejoicing will mark the return to England of the King and Queen, who will be welcomed by members of the Royal Family at Southampton and Waterloo Station in London on Thursday. On Friday they will drive in state over a much longer route to and from the Guildhall for the formal welcome by the Lord Mayor and Corporation of the City of London.

FREE VOTE ON FLOGGING IN ENGLAND

OPINION DIVIDED

LONDON, Monday (R). — A free vote will be taken by the House of Commons on the question of abolishing flogging in England when the Criminal Justice Bill comes up again for discussion.

Sir Samuel Hoare's recommendation of the Bill contains a clause abolishing corporal punishment except in the case of an assault on prison warders.

On Friday, 201 members gave notice of a motion to delete the clause. Opinion has been so divided, especially in view of conflicting trends of public opinion in England, that a free vote will be allowed to all parties without the Whips being put on.

(A conference of women representing various organizations in England recently adopted a resolution favouring the retention of flogging, especially in the case of brutal assaults on women and girls.)

BROADCASTING BY TELEPHONE

HOUSE HEARS OF POSSIBILITIES

LONDON, Monday (R). — Broadcast programmes by telephone, a new Post Office system devised for an emergency, were stated by the Postmaster-General, Major G. C. Tryon, to be now a practical possibility when he introduced the Post Office Estimates into the House of Commons on Friday.

Major Tryon stressed the value of telephone wire transmission in war time when wireless reception might deteriorate or be subjected to occasional interference. Under the telephone-wireless service, a subscriber would be able to receive broadcast programmes, to use the telephone without interference, and use it at the same time as the receiving set was in use.

BETTER RECEPTION

Under the telephone system, reception would be exceedingly good and reception would be free from all interference, which at the present time is very bad in some districts, especially in parts of London. The present receivers could be used with a special attachment.

Major Tryon said that he proposed to start the service on the basis of all sets used by subscribers, which could Titianu, Rumanian Minister of Propaganda, in a speech at the unveiling of a statue of King Ferdinand I. at Silistra.

"Too much is spoken about the minorities settled in Rumania and too little about the Rumanian minorities outside our frontiers — frontiers which are consecrated by history and justice," the Rumanian Minister declared.
